

Bullhorn implementation

Following a recommendation from Bullhorn, Tucker Stone chose to partner with Kyloe on their migration from Firefish to Bullhorn.

Profile: Tucker Stone

- Established: 2010
 - Regions: London HQ
 - Bullhorn users: 11
- About: Tucker Stone is a boutique HR search firm specialising in senior level appointments. Clients range from start-ups looking for their first HR Director, to FTSE 50 companies with large & complex HR functions.

"This was the first CRM implementation I'd worked on, and Kyloe were the perfect partner. The milestones and expectations were clear from the start - having a roadmap made my job very easy as I knew what I needed to focus on when deadlines were approaching.

One of the key reasons for Tucker Stone moving to Bullhorn was so that we could make use of the better search functionality that Bullhorn offers. Our data is very valuable to us and making sure we worked with an implementation partner who we could trust with our data was essential.

Our project team were so knowledgeable and willing to help with any questions we had - from the initial statement of work, right through to data mapping, the team were really patient and no question was too difficult.

We had no overlap between Firefish and Bullhorn so it was really important that the project was delivered on time and that we could hit the ground running. Ensuring the team were suitably trained was a big part of this. Since we went live on Bullhorn the team have found it really easy to use - the CV parsing has been beneficial and the Outlook add-on has been a game changer.

I would highly recommend partnering with Kyloe - they really are a pleasure to work with!"

Gemma Vaughan, Head of Candidate Experience @ Tucker Stone