

Making data migration simple with Kyloe

Transfer new company data post-acquisition

Solve problems for a smooth transition

Ensure data integrity

What was the project that you worked with Kyloe on?

"We completed an acquisition and needed to transfer all of the company's Bullhorn data into our system. We reached out to a few partners to see who could complete the project, and landed on Kyloe due to great pricing, established relationships, and ease of working with them!"

"It was very easy and required little work on our end since Kyloe managed the project so well."

How did Kyloe help you?

"The Kyloe team hopped on an intro call to learn about what we needed done. Throughout that meeting, they shared their knowledge of how this type of project has been completed historically, shared suggestions on ways to complete it, and gave me guidance on what information would be needed to complete the project."

How did the project go?

"The project was great! I spent a little over an hour in various meetings, which was helpful as someone who has a heavy workload in addition to the project. Kyloe managed everything from start to finish and never wasted time on unnecessary calls. They got the information needed up front, asked for clarity on how we wanted things to look in our system, and completed the project in a timely manner."

Would you recommend Kyloe?

"Absolutely! Kyloe completed a data transfer that our internal team would never have been able to do. They saved us hours of research and manual labour, were extremely knowledgeable about their offerings and how to solve our problems, and were overall a pleasure to work with."

How has it impacted your business?

"This project has made our transition with a new employee very effective. The new employee now has access to all of their old information but within our system, ensuring our data integrity is intact and we have important historical records to aid in business development and recruiting."
