Streamlining recruitment compliance with Kyloe AwesomeDocs

A success story with Deverellsmith

"Implementing Kyloe AwesomeDocs was really easy. We saw the benefits of the time being cut immediately. The DocuSign part of it - 10 out of 10. We couldn't be happier."

Deverellsmith

Company profile

Established: 2006   Region: Global   Industries: Property and Real Estate   Employees: 51-200 employees

Background

Before implementing Kyloe AwesomeDocs, Deverellsmith was juggling multiple disconnected systems to manage critical business processes:

CV/resume formatting inefficiencies

The team relied on a third-party CV formatting system that, while functional, operated entirely outside their core business platform. This created silos of information and made it impossible to centralise their CV management workflow.

Compliance and documentation chaos

Compliance documentation - terms of business agreements, right-to-work verifications, and passport logs - was being managed through DocuSign without integration to their main Bullhorn system. This fragmentation led to:

- Documents scattered across team inboxes
- Inconsistent tagging and labelling of documents
- Lost or misfiled compliance records
- Incomplete paper trails (documents were being half-signed, with critical signatures missing from one party)

Quantifiable impact

The project manager estimated these inefficiencies cost approximately 40 hours per month in administrative time. For a recruitment firm where the average recruiter costs £22,000-£25,000 monthly, that translated to losing the equivalent of one full-time recruiter each month.

The main benefit for us is being able to track documentation and ensure it's labelled correctly. For terms of business and right-to-work processes, documents come back with the right labels, Bullhorn updates automatically, and we're instantly notified that checks are complete. That's the real strength of the system — everything comes in organised and correctly labelled."

The solution: Kyloe AwesomeDocs for Bullhorn

- Native DocuSign integration: Compliance documents now automatically route and integrate with Bullhorn, eliminating the need to manually move documents between systems.
- CV/resume formatting automation: As an added bonus, the team gained automated CV formatting capabilities.

Results and impact

Time savings

40 hours per month recovered. The team now process compliance documents and generate hundreds of CV/resumes in a couple clicks through automated workflows.

Automated Compliance

Documents now flow directly from Bullhorn to DocuSign and back to Bullhorn with automatic tagging and labelling, categorised correctly without manual intervention.

Eliminated silos

Documents are now accessible to the entire team in one centralised system eliminating lost documents, incorrect filing, and hunting through inboxes for compliance records.

Key benefits

If you're a recruitment agency struggling with similar challenges, Kyloe AwesomeDocs delivers:

- Integrated compliance – Connect your document workflows directly to your Bullhorn, eliminating manual data entry and lost documents.
- Automated tagging & organisation – Ensure every document is labelled correctly and automatically routed to the right place.
- Recovered productivity – Free up the equivalent of weeks of recruiter time each month.
- Complete audit trails – Create comprehensive records for compliance and risk management.
- Seamless CV processing – Automate CV formatting alongside your core compliance workflows.